Goalkeepers
Katie Fraine	Titusville, Florida		None	Florida	0	0	0	Gators keeper last year suffered from frustrating drops in concentration.
Jillian Loyden	Vineland, New Jersey	25	Chicago Red Stars	Villanova	23	0	0	Was erratic at times as starter in Chicago last season. Hand injury likely kept her from signing with a team until middle of preseason.
Brett Maron	Billerica, Massachusetts	24	Atlanta Beat	Fairfield	5	0	0	Looked painfully out of her depth after being gifted starting job with Beat last year. Likely contending with Fraine & Myers for #3 job.
Erin McLeod	Calgary, Alberta, Canada	28	Vancouver Whitecaps	Penn State	14	0	0	Conflicting reports about her status with team leaving everyone baffled. Still recovering from knee injury. Will backup Solo if she's still with club.
Shannon Myers	Lancaster, Pennsylvania	28	Sky Blue FC	Syracuse	0	0	0	In the unlikely position of probably being the starting goalkeeper for MagicJack when Solo is on international duty.
Hope Solo	Richland, Washington	29	Atlanta Beat	Washington	22	0	0	Won't have fond memories of 2010. Hoping for a quick recovery from shoulder surgery.
Defenders
Diane Caldwell	Balbriggan, Ireland		Hudson Valley Quickstrike	Hofstra	0	0	0	Irish international traded in soccer boots for field hockey stick last year at Hofstra.
Marian Dalmy	Lakewood, Colorado	26	Chicago Red Stars	Santa Clara	24	1	4	Young defender with rising reputation may face battle for playing time in talented defense.
Tina Ellertson	Vancouver, Washington	28	Atlanta Beat	Washington	22	2	1	Hoping to rebuild reputation after nightmarish year in Atlanta.
Nikki Marshall	Mead, Colorado	22	None	Colorado	24	3	0	Rising star also provided injection of offense to stagnant offense at times in 2010.
Rebecca Moros	Larchmont, New York	25	None	Duke	23	1	0	Will add consistency to a solid WF back line. One of the most industrious and adventurous right-backs in the league.
Christie Rampone	Point Pleasant, New Jersey	35	Sky Blue FC	Monmouth	16	0	0	Likely one last chance at greatness for long-serving defensive rock.
Becky Sauerbrunn	Saint Louis, Missouri	25	None	Virginia	24	0	1	The Iron Woman of the WPS shows no signs of slowing up any time soon.
Meghan Schnur	Butler, Pennsylvania	25	Sky Blue FC	UConn	18	0	0	USWNT fringe player would love a great season to get back in Pia's good graces.
Midfielders
Shannon Boxx	Redondo Beach, California	33	FC Gold Pride	Notre Dame	20	1	5	Beginning to show signs of age but still a strong presence in midfield.
Amanda DaCosta	Katonah, New York	21	None	Florida State	0	0	0	Classy midfielder suffered an odd drop on Draft day and will be eager to prove naysayers wrong.
Omolyn Davis	Kingston, Jamaica	23	None	George Mason	0	0	0	Big midfield tank that can dribble flew under the radar in college but was impressive in W-League stint with Freedom Futures.
Ashlee Elliott	Corona, California	22	None	Florida	0	0	0	High workrate midfield destroyer also a secondary option as a target forward.
Sarah Huffman	Flower Mound, Texas	26	Roa (NOR)	Virginia	22	1	4	Physical force in midfield was excellent in first half of 2010 season.
Meghan Klingenberg	Gibsonia, Pennsylvania	22	None	North Carolina	0	0	0	UNC's midfield talisman could also prove a capable full-back in the pros.
Sophie Schmidt	Abbotsford, British Columbia, Canada	22	None	Portland	0	0	0	How Canadian international managed to subvert draft process is anybody's guess but could be a future star in league after great career in Portland.
Kacey White	Arlington, Texas	26	Sky Blue FC	North Carolina	24	0	1	Was prone to bouts of invisibility during a down year in 2010 with Sky Blue.
Forwards
Lisa De Vanna	Perth, Australia	26	Brisbane Roar (AUS)	None	4	1	0	Aussie slasher had 2010 season curtailed by broken leg but looks healthy now.
Ella Masar	Urbana, Illinois	24	Chicago Red Stars	Illinois	22	8	0	One-time misfiring striker came good for Red Stars in a big way last season.
Christen Press	P.V. Estates, California	22	None	Stanford	0	0	0	Set NCAA on fire last season with free-scoring Stanford but remains out of favor in national team setup.
Johanna Rasmussen	Denmark	27	Atlanta Beat	None	19	4	0	Showed flashes of brilliance in attack last year on moribund Beat side.
Lindsay Tarpley	Kalamazoo, Michigan	27	Boston Breakers	North Carolina	22	4	3	On fourth WPS team in three years. Playing time hardly a given in crowded attack.
Abby Wambach	Rochester, New York	30	None	Florida	22	13	8	Was in fine form for much of 2010 but will be happier if she doesn't have to do it all up front again in 2011.
